

“
It was easy to convert to natural gas and it is more economical for us as a business. I would totally recommend natural gas to other businesses. The conversion has absolutely exceeded my expectations.

Aidan Doyle, Practice Owner,
Summerhill Vets

Summerhill Veterinary Clinic is one of the oldest veterinary clinics in Co. Tipperary and has been in practice for over eighty years. In 2016, Aidan Doyle and Eamon O'Connell took over the business, located in a listed building here at 26 Summerhill, Nenagh. A progressive practice, with ten staff, they focus on achieving the best outcomes for their clients and animals.

“The whole conversion process was fairly straightforward. The entrance to the practice was blocked for one day; however, it was still possible for our business to remain open.”

“The instant hot water has made a considerable difference. It is now so much easier to scan and disinfect the kennels, prep rooms and surgery.”
